ENRICHMENT

Art & History Series

Dates: January 27 and February 24

Can't draw a straight line? You don't have to, to be able to enjoy this workshop! I hear this all the time from people who have always wanted to take an art class, but believe they can't do it. This series of workshops will combine a little art history with studio art for a fun event. Learn a little about a famous artist and how they saw the world around them, and then try a painting in that artist's signature style. Each workshop will stand on its own; you will not miss anything by taking only one or the other of the offerings. If there is interest in this series, participants will be able to make suggestions for other artists to study.

Jackson Pollack: Abstract Expressionism

Date: January 27 3:30-5:30

Can you spill paint? Let it drip off the end of a brush or a spoon? That's what Jackson Pollock did. And that is all the 'talent' you will need to be able to enjoy this workshop.

His paintings will be discussed; why and how he did what he did and how it fit into the history of the time. This will teach you how to loosen up your painting style, and make your art more expressive. In this workshop, we will be making a large drip painting for the senior center. All supplies will be provided. Bring a beverage of your choice to enjoy with the painting. Wear old clothing and let your creative spirit loose.

Cost: $10.00 per session or 2 for $15.00

Register with fee by Jan 20

Paul Klee: Father of Modern Art

Date: February 24 at 3:30-5:30

"I can't draw a stick figure." Have you ever said that? So have many others. We will be looking at the art of Paul Klee. His notebooks are considered to be as important to understanding modern art as Leonardo da Vinci's treatise on painting is, as a source for looking at renaissance art. Understanding how Klee came to make his marks will help you decipher modern art and enjoy it. It will also help you gain confidence in your ability to make marks, a dot, a line and your ability to learn to arrange them will help you in drawing and painting. All supplies will be provided, if you have watercolor paints, you are encouraged to bring them. Again, please bring a beverage of your choice and be prepared to have fun mixing art history and art making!

Cost: $10.00 per session or 2 for $15.00
